Wilson High School Song

O Wilson, we do love you,
And so we will always;
No school shall rank above you,
No, not in any way!
We'll work for you and we'll play for you,
We'll fight for you and we'll win for you,
For our own Wilson High.

Chorus:

Wilson, Wilson, our own Wilson High,
Through all our days we'll sing your praise
'Twill never die;
O, join us in our song, and sing it all day long;
Hail to Wilson, Wilson, Wilson High!

All joined in high endeavor,
Within her stately walls,
Our friendships we'll ne'er sever,
Once formed in Wilson's halls;
For her we'll stand together,
In fair or stormy weather,
We'll honor her forever,
Our own dear Wilson High.

Dedication

Mr. Walter A. Jameson

To Mr. Jameson, our beloved principal—a wise counsellor, an impartial judge, a willing helper, and a friend to all of us—we fondly dedicate the Wilson Yearbook for 1957, as a token of our appreciation and esteem.

The students whose names are starred serve Wilson as Library Monitors.

A LOOK INTO THE FUTURE

The biggest challenge to Mr. Warzeski's and Miss Davis' Civics students in the spring of 1957 was the systematic study of careers. Each pupil chose a career which interested him especially and then prepared a booklet on it. Attractive covers, illustrations, interesting introductions, interviews with people on-the-job, and descriptions of their careers, resulting from library research, combined to give the students a "look" into their vocational futures.

The librarian, Miss Blakeslee, was "a friend, indeed" as she guided the students to materials which she has been collecting for several years and which she and her monitor staff reorganized and filed alphabetically according to Forrester's Occupational Literature during the winter months. Miss Blakeslee wishes to mention especially the help of Miss Ellen Connell, Guidance Coordinator for the Erie School District, who has sent us so much valuable material.

Class Prophecy . . .

As 1957 fades into history, we peer into the future to see what our classmates will be doing in the next few years:

John DeMatteo has become a criminal lawyer and always wins his cases.

Christine Nelson and Ed Hamilton are co-directors of the Playhouse.

Don Gumner is a champion pretzel twister.

June Henning is the star reporter on the Mickey Mouse Club Magazine.

Rickey Joy and Ken Tracy have become joint owners of a dude ranch.

Jeanne Santaniello is the world's leading skater-dancer.

Rocco Taccone is a terrific politician.

Erma Atkinson has become a famous model in one of New York's exclusive stores.

George Pollack is a star figure on the Brown's football team—waterboy!

Karen Phelps lights the candles for Liberace.

Bill Depew established his own photography business.

Sue Minor is a high ranking officer in the Women's Marine Corps.

Frank Huber and Joanne Zipper now own a profitable manufacturing company.

Sue Whitford produces white bucks for future Wilson Cheerleaders to clean.

George Metalonis is a big time jewelry man in New York City.

Jack Nason assists Mr. Hauck as a junior mathematician.

Randy Brown has just won the Olympic weight-lifting title.

Gail Holland, Jackie Mallory, and Mildred Litz have formed a dance trio and currecently are starring at the CopaCabana.

Bill Spierling has won all honors for the past two years at the Indianapolis speedway.

JoAnn Hagan and Linda Webb are touring the country with a girls' professional softball team.

Alan Mickelson has just released his greatest masterpiece entitled, "Mickelson's 500 Nursery Rhymes."

Yvonne Schrecengost is teaching student nurses at Erie's new City Hospital.
